Presentation

The Complementary Masters in General Dentistry prepares students to practice independently in general dentistry. This training has a 250-hour theoretical part including a common-core syllabus with various complementary masters in dental science, and a 1250-hour clinical dentistry part in the form of an internship to exercise independently in integrated dentistry. A 80 % attendance at "Interactive seminars relating to independent practice (70h)" is compulsory to get the validation. These seminars are organized with other universities and in collaboration with the two French-speaking professional organizations. The programme complies with the criteria of approval to obtain the professional title of general dentist, in accordance with the RD of 29 March 2002.
