INTERNATIONAL MBA

Words from the HEC Liège Dean

Become the actor of a changing world.

Today, we are collectively involved in a globalized world that invites interculturality, language skills, and internationality.

Business and economic models are being questioned and are evolving towards more social and sustainable governance ethics.

We share our students' expectations, which are different from the past. They are looking for the world to change and to act on it. The circular economy, SMEs, cooperatives or even a revival of the public service are shaking up the old model, and many young people are moving towards these alternatives.

This requires more versatile knowledge, practices and approaches.

Cross-disciplinarity and curiosity, combined with academic rigor, allow students to refine their openness and their critical view of the world.

This is what HEC Liège has to offer them!

Wilfried Niessen

General director
and Dean at HEC Liège

Why choose an MBA?

An MBA is considered to be the highest-level program offered by business schools worldwide.

Reserved for promising executives, they bring together candidates from a variety of professional and personal backgrounds, tailor their educational experience and integrate them into a wide community of likeminded professionals.

These career-enhancing programs focus on in person, interactive learning enriched through exchanges and discussions with faculty and peers.

With its strategic approach to management, our courses are designed for high-level managers or entrepreneurs, who seek to improve their managerial, decision-making, problem-solving skills, and enhance leadership competencies to solve the challenges of tomorrow's world.

HEC's International MBA

HEC Liège has close connections with Luxembourg which currently hosts 1,300 of our active alumni. We feel this makes Luxembourg a natural home for our Business School and the place to offer our International MBA & Executive programs.

Together with the Chamber of Commerce, hosting us in the Financial and European District, our new high-level programs focus on attracting and developing worldwide talent for the local and international job markets.

Our International MBA comes in 2 formats: a Part-Time and a Full-Time depending on the needs, and the professional ambitions of our MBA candidates.

Our International MBA is a 60 EU credits program composed of core and electives courses, delivered by an international faculty, field experts and seasoned academics that challenge our students to step out of their comfort zone in an interactive format.

Awards & Accreditation

Join a world-class Business School recognized by double accreditation.

HEC Liège is internationally accredited, reflecting our commitment to educate our students to the highest international standards of excellence.

Alongside our awards (members of the Conférences des Grandes Ecoles, BSIS awards, etc.), we are proud of being part of the top 1% of business schools worldwide being double accredited by both EQUIS and AACSB for all our activities (from bachelor to doctorate and all executive education).

This benefits the value of the HEC Liège degree on the national and international job market.
